

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A printer is connected to a portable communication terminal which is accessible to a server device on a network. The printer comprises an interface connected to the portable communication terminal, and an access device accessing to the server device by a circuit connection function of the portable communication terminal and downloading data registered in advance in the server device by the portable communication terminal.

5

10

10/28/01 08:27:01 0040322 22804650